ROYAL FLUSHES A DELUSION.

They Come Once in a While, But Do Not Always Win Much.

"These stories about men making big winnings by accidentally catching a straight flush when luck seemed down on them make me very weary," said an amateur poker player, who has been "poking" off and on for about 18 years, playing, however, nothing more imposing than "penny ante."

"I always class such stories with snake stories and fishing tales," the player went on. "There may be some truth in them, but I have never had any such luck—and I have held my own very well at 'penny ante' too."

"I have had just two 'royal flushes' in my experience. So far as the accidental and surprising part of them was concerned, that was all right, but for the big winnings—I never saw them."

On the contrary, on both occasions, my opponents—I was playing two handed games each time—"lay down" on me unceremoniously. And I don't think I gave my hand away either."

"The first royal flush I ever had the fortune to hold in my hand was about six years ago, when I was having a quiet little game with an old friend. It was a modest 'jackpot'."

"My opponent opened it for a nickel—the limit. I skimmed my hand, but could not find a pair. A king and queen of hearts looked pretty, and I chipped in my nickel and drew to them."

"Imagine my surprise when an ace, a ten and a jack of hearts came to me. I kept mighty quiet, hoping to make a 'killing'."

"My opponent threw in a nickel chip, and I saw it and raised it the nickel limit. He lay down. He had not bettered a measly pair of jacks."

"The other time I had a royal flush was about a year and a half ago. My opponent asked me if I had ever had one and said that he had not."

"The second hand after his remark I had the 'ace,' and he staid in. I had a queen, jack and ten of clubs and thought I would try for a straight or flush. The king and then the ace of clubs came to me."

"My opponent skinned his hand and then said, 'I'll give it to you.' He had only an ace high, my hand next."

"I showed him my hand, and he volubly congratulated himself that he had not 'bettered' his draw, while I—well, I never swear in company, but I felt mighty like it."—Kansas City Star.

Prince Charlie.

He was a young Prince Charming, beautiful, brave, capable of enduring hardships and, till his unfortunate accident, not only kind, but of an uncommon and almost impetuous humanity. Well might Walton, the spy, pronounce him, with the blood of John Sobieski in his veins, "a far more dangerous enemy to the present establishment of the government in England than ever his father was."

In those days, when a king of some sort was a necessity, England seemed to have in Charles a king born to be adored. But the tendency of things was inevitably against him. He appears, I own to myself, to have had better qualities than any man of his line since the fourth James fell at Flodden. There was nothing in his Scotch expedition, till the fatal narrow of Culloden, that did not become a gentleman and a king. The Camerons, a feble, but virulent remnant of the wild leaven of the covenant, publicly blamed his "foolish lenity and pity" to the "educators whom Providence put into his hands."

If his courage is accused, so has that of Marlborough been, and the evidence of Malcolm McLeod, "never was a man not a coward so prudent, nor a man not rash so brave," may be taken as disposing of a childishly malevolent accusation. He was gentle and considerate till misfortune taught him suspicion and hope deferred made the heart sick. The exposure, which he bore so gallantly in the highlands, and the habits of that country, taught him his fatal vice, which corrupted and debased a character naturally noble and generous.—Scribner's Magazine.

He Returned the Tip.

The Bristol (England) Mercury says that while Paderewski, the pianist, was in a nearby town recently he received a courteous worded letter asking to allow an invalid lady to call upon him and hear him play one piece, promising in return for "this great treat" a donation of half a guinea, which was tendered with much apology. The letter was so worded as to be a courteous and delicate appeal to the pianist's generosity. The letter had the desired effect, and he appointed a time. Punctual to the moment, the lady appeared, and Paderewski played her a few pieces. The lady thanked him and slipped the promised half guinea in the most gracious mode of tipping into his palm. "Ah! what is this?" blandly asked the pianist. "The half guinea I promised you," "I really believe," he answered, with a smile, "that I shall be able to get to the next town without it," saying which he returned the proffered largesse, bowed the lady out and sat down to his interrupted breakfast.

The Tramp's Opportunity.

Queer things happen in this world. A tramp took refuge in an old graveyard in Georgia and prepared for a sound night's rest between two graves. About the hour when churchyards are supposed to "yawn" he was awakened by a strange noise, and on looking up he discovered an escaped convict in the act of filing his shackles. As the tramp stood up the convict, in superstitious terror, fell upon his knees, whereupon the tramp arrested him, delivered him over to the authorities at the camp near by and received a reward of $20.—Atlanta Constitution.

Bishop Fleming.

In Lincolnshire, England, it is the current belief that Bishop Fleming, founder of Lincoln college, Oxford, died while attempting to imitate the Saviour's miraculous fast of 40 days.

Elevator Wit.

The elevator boy in the big flat was airing his views to a passenger on the proper conduct of children.

"What do you know about it?" laughed the passenger. "You're not married, are you?"

"Well, no," replied the boy, "but I've brought up a good many families in my time," and then he gazed up the elevator shaft with a rapturous expression.—Detroit Free Press.

Tennyson.

Tennyson would not talk about his poetry, but once intimated that he regarded the "Ode on the Death of the Duke of Wellington" as containing more inspiration than some of the others. He once said that he did not expect much of the "Charge of the Light Brigade" and was agreeably surprised at its reception.

The woman who keeps at a distance the complexion beautifiers, beauty and powders, which soon ruin the face.

A healthy glow to the skin, a face without wrinkles, and sparkling eyes, will be yours if you keep the system and the special internal organs in good condition. The young girl, or woman, often grows pale, wrinkled and thin, eats little, everything wearies her, she complains of herself as aching and sore and as sleeping poorly. Often she is troubled with headache, or a tender spine, with a bearing-down weight in the abdomen, or at periods she may be irregular, or suffer extreme pain from functional derangements.

Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., in his long and active experience, met many cases of this kind, for which he used a prescription which was found to cure such difficulties permanently in ninety-eight per cent. of all cases. Having proven so successful, Dr. Pierce put his "Favorite Prescription" on the market, and it is today sold more largely than any other medicine for the ills of women.

For all functional derangements, displacements, ulceration, inflammation, and the catarrhal drain from the lining membranes of the special internal organs of women, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription reaches the origin of the trouble, and corrects it.

Mrs. Mary Crim, of Frankfort, Franklin Co., Ill., writes: "A few years ago I took cold, which resulted in female trouble, and affected my whole system. About a year ago, I took cold, and had on one month, they were very severe. I had pain in my sides, more frequently in the left side, gradually grew worse until, finally, I had to take to bed. I had a bad cough, and I couldn't rest. I commenced taking your medicine, and in four months, taking seven bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and five of his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' My weight has increased, and I feel better and stouter than I have for years."

In the face of this promise Secretary Smith continues to issue patents to the railroads for mineral lands.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

Pretty Girl Graduates and an Appreciative and Large Audience.

The Opera House was jammed last evening, the occasion being the graduating exercises of the State Normal School. Every seat was occupied and even standing room was at a premium, and the efforts of those who took part were highly appreciated as was evidenced by the enthusiastic applause and frequent encores. Each number on the program was well rendered and not a hitch occurred during the entire entertainment.

The University Orchestra opened the exercises with one of their choicest overtures. The next number was an oration, subject, "Character," by Miss Kate Isabelle Robb, who handled the question in a masterly manner. Her argument was well timed, and the many points made showed that the young lady had thoroughly studied her subject. Her delivery was clear and in good style and every word was plainly heard in all parts of the house. "Small Things," an essay by Miss May Allen, was well written, containing many good suggestions and a number of spicy references that took well. The Normal Chorus, sang by graduates and second year Normals, was well rendered and was given a rousing encore.

Miss Ina Hannah Stiner read an essay on "The Professional Teacher." She presented the methods and modes which teachers should pursue and demonstrated that she was fully conversant with the subject she had chosen.

The oration "Know Thy Work and Do It" by Miss Mary Ann Robb contained many facts that were of a substantial character and her illustrations and general argument conveyed a number of original ideas. Her delivery was in good form and she held the close attention of the audience and was the recipient of many favorable comments.

"The dust, 'Fly Away Bunting,' by Misses Edmunds and Sadler was a gem and was well received.

This was followed by a debate on the question "Brain vs. Heart," Misses Kettin and Bradshaw in the affirmative and Misses Murphy and Sadler in the negative. The young ladies made good arguments on their respective sides of the question, showing the study they had given it.

A vocal solo, "My Queen," by Mrs. A. L. Layton was rendered in that superb style for which this lady is noted. She was enthusiastically applauded and declined an encore.

A scene from Mary Stewart by Miss Edmunds and Miss Catlin was an interesting departure from the usual program. The scene depicted the last interview between Queen Elizabeth and Mary Queen of Scots. Both young ladies sustained their respective characters in a dramatic style, Miss Edmunds being especially strong in the scornful passages.

"The Brownies' Drill," by eighteen of the boys of the training school, was one of the best features of the entertainment. The boys acquitted themselves splendidly, being costumed and made up like veritable brownies, their comical actions and song created much amusement. Mr. E. S. Laurie made the boys up and gave them special instructions which added much to the little fellows performance.

Following came an address by Regent H. S. Starrett. He gave the students good advice and made many suggestions to them that will be of great value on their entrance into active life. He spoke for several minutes and received the closest attention from the students. After a song by the Normal chorus, Dr. Stubbs presented the Diplomas to the graduates. He spoke feelingly to the graduates, referring briefly to their school days and the hour of parting and their going forth into the busy world to make their mark as teachers or in other callings in life.

He said: Teaching is a profession that is gradually gaining in dignity and honor. In the past, teachers have been subject to too frequent changes. If we want best results in school-rooms we must have educated and cultured teachers. The trained teacher's mind is prepared by learning and discipline to sympathize with and aid those who are to come under his influence. Culture comes from the deepest and broadest sympathy in our chosen work. If we wish to develop moral character in our communities it must come from the training that our public school children are to receive from educated and disciplined teachers.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

CLASS DAY.

Interesting Exercises at the State University.

Yesterday morning witnessed the first introduction of the time honored college custom of Class Day at the University. On this day the graduating classes gather together in every college in the land and recite to admiring friends their noble deeds and brilliant victories during the four years of their college life. On this day there is no mention of their failures, of the dread "exams" or of the times when the hated Juniors triumphed over them in the college rush, but all is peace, quiet and good will towards everyone. The Junior is no longer belligerent but listens in calm content to the boasting of the graduating Senior for he feels certain that he himself will make a far better Senior in the coming year.

The Class Day exercises yesterday were but a modest beginning, but they showed the true college spirit. They were entirely under the control of the graduating class of the University proper. Promptly at 9.30 the class of four hundred strong marched upon the platform in the large assembly hall.

by Marshall S. C. Durkee, Miss Mabel Stanaway as president of the class made a few well chosen remarks in introduction of the class. Mr. P. Frausner was orator and his speech was a treat. His manner was easy, his enunciation clear and his words full of the thoughts of a careful student. He knows not only how to think but also how to express himself. Miss Stella Linscott followed with a piano solo which was enthusiastically received.

Miss Stubbs then read the class poem. It was original and was good. As a class poem it was far above the average. Miss Stanaway followed with a solo. It is unnecessary to say that it was well received. She refused to answer to an encore, although it was probably the last time that she will appear as a student before a University audience. The loss of Miss Stanaway will be a heavy blow to the musical circles of the University.

Miss Grace Ward was next on the program with the class history. She enumerated their glorious deeds and pointed to the trophies that lay before her as the emblems of the many victories of the class of '95. She must be excused if, to older students, some of these incidents appeared a little overdrawn for it was her bounden duty to make her class appear the greatest and best that has ever graduated from the University of Nevada.

That her class has done well cannot be denied, and to its patriotic and persistent efforts is due a great part of the wonderful growth of the University during the past year.

Miss Stella Linscott in a prophetic vision revealed the future lot of each and every member of the class. Of course she made them all prosperous and happy; class prophecies always do. But nevertheless her paper was witty and ingenious and differed from the usual stereotyped form.

THE PIPE OF PEACE.

The Marshal by direction of the President produced a long German pipe which he filled and lighted in a suspiciously expert manner. The President took the first whiff as a token of her good will towards all, although her face showed that other feelings were struggling for the mastery. The pipe was then passed to each member of the class for a whiff. At this point it went out, which greatly simplified matters for the "co-eds." Yet they insisted on making wry faces, while the boys, in their turn, looked disappointed. When all were satisfied Miss Stanaway called Miss Wheeler, the President of the Junior Class, to the stage and as a token that the hatchet was forever buried between the two classes, presented her with the pipe to be preserved for the use of future classes.

The exercises were then concluded with the class song and the Class of '95 bade good-bye to their many friends among the under graduates whom they have done so much to lead in the way that college students should go. To-night they will be presented with their degrees in the Opera House and they will scatter to other schools or to work.

It is the hope of their friends that they will meet with the same success in the world that they have in college and that they will ever be a credit to that Alma Mater which they have done so much to carry forward in her march of progress.

A Burglary.

Last evening while Mrs. Wagar was at the Normal exercises a man entered a woodshed in the rear of her residence and stole two trunks. Frank Mahoney, a neighbor, heard the noise and notified officer Branton who hurried to the place and found the man sitting down by the trunks which he had broken open, and seemed to be overhauling the plunder. He had some small articles in his pockets when arrested. He is a stranger and has the appearance of a tramp. Officer Nash took charge of him and gave him lodgings in the cooler. He seemed to be intoxicated. The trunks belonged to Mrs. Hillman, a relative of Mrs. Wagar, and the contents were recovered.

CARSON MINT DROPS.

No Further Leakage Discovered—Pickler Bound in the Sum of $1,000 to Rise and Explain—Barn Bullion Diggings Henny's Proposition.

(Correspondence of the Journal.)

CARSON CITY, June 5, 1895.

The most sensational topic of general conversation continues to be the Pickler shortage of the Carson Mint. All the points in the case are elaborately discussed, and opinions given on all phases of the proposition. U. S. Attorney Jones took active measures last evening toward the consummation of the arrest of Pickler in this case. This forenoon arrangements were made, Pickler was finally placed under arrest and at 3 o'clock P. M. he appeared before U. S. Commissioner Edwards and filed his bond in the sum of $1,000, to appear before the Commissioner for preliminary examination, with Ed. Burlington and Otto Schultz as sureties in $500 each. The charge against him is grand larceny in feloniously appropriating bullion belonging to the mint to his own use, the same being found in his possession.

Pickler repudiates the charge and knows that he has the documents to prove that the hidden bullion was sent to him some months ago by a brother of his, who is engaged in mining in Idaho, to be disposed of at the Carson Mint, and he merely concealed it in the heart of his barn for safe keeping. He claims to be able to explain everything in a perfectly satisfactory manner and will be given full opportunity to do so, while he was suspected from further duty at the mint and leaving by Superintendent Adams till further notice.

It is a singular fatality or coincidence that those connected with the bullion receiving, melting and refining department of the Carson Mint who have been accused of surreptitious shortage proclivities, have owned barns near their residences. Slocum was suspected of having stolen the golden mint granulations which were accidentally found by a couple of little boys playing in and about his barn several years ago. Pickler's barn was where the present bullion was dug up, and Henny's barn was recently searched in its interior diggings to unearth or divulge something in the way of mint shortage. Henny's mother-in-law here in Carson is named Barnes.

Newspaper cuts of Henny are distributed all over the country, but no reward is offered for his apprehension, not even free passage tendered him to come back alone and deliver himself up. His relatives and intimate friends have sent him some money recently, however, and now it is confidently stated that he will voluntarily return very shortly, demanding that anybody who hath ought to say or is against him shall promulgate the same forthwith, also that he can satisfactorily explain all his alleged surreptitious mint bullion transactions. "Mebbyso."

ALF DOTEN.

Death of Mrs. M. J. Curtis.

Mrs. M. J. Curtis died at about 8 o'clock last night. Her death was a terrible shock to her relatives and friends, for although she has been in poor health for sometime, death came unexpectedly and those around her were entirely unprepared. She leaves a husband and child to mourn her loss, besides a mother and sisters. Two of the last named and her mother were with her. Mrs. Curtis was a quiet homelike woman, seldom going out, consequently not generally known although she has been a resident of Reno for many years. The time and place of the funeral service will be announced in the next issue.

Election of Officers.

At a regular meeting of Truckee Lodge, I. O. O. F., No. 14, held last night the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term: Philip Jacobs, N. G.; Florian Grass, V. G.; J. V. Peers, Rec. Sec.; W. E. Cattle, Permanent Sec.; R. S. Osborn, Treas.; W. Sanders, Trustee.

Courtois & Co.'s new ad appears in to-day's issue. A complete line of the latest patterns in wall papers have just been received, and everything required to paint or finish a house can be found in the store. Painters materials, hardware, nails, etc., are made a specialty. Their prices are surprisingly low. Call on them if you want to build or clean house.

President Norcross presided and welcomed into the Association the fourteen members of the graduating class of '95. The following officers were then elected for the ensuing year: President, Fred Stadtmuller, '92; Vice-President, C. R. Lewers, '93; Secretary, Miss Anna Schaefer, '94; members of Executive Committee, Miss Annie Martin, '94 and Miss Stella Linscott, '95.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while teething. If disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children's teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, there is no mistake about it. It cures the mother, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures Wind Colic, soothes the gums, reduces inflammation and gives Tone and Energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup."

The British bimetalists are rejoicing because the Democrats of Kansas failed to endorse the free coinage movement. The truth is, Democrats are as scarce in Kansas as they are in Nevada and there, as here, the leaders are playing into the hands of the Republicans. United States Senator Martin of Kansas, a life-long Democrat, says he is done with goldbug Democrats. But they must be strange bimetalists, something like our Nevada free coinage Republicans, who rejoice because Kansas Democrats did not endorse the silver movement.

A slight improvement was noted in Tom Pixley's case yesterday.

Before the people today, and which stands preeminently above all other medicines, is

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla

It has won its hold upon the hearts of the people by its own absolute intrinsic merit. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story:—

Hood's Cures

Even when all other preparations and prescriptions fail. "Formerly every year I had an eruption on my body, and a kind of biting pain besides. I have had it now for four years every summer, but since I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I have had no trace of it. I have taken seven bottles." FRED FORZAN, 3101 Black St., Denver, Colorado.
